

---

The page contains 15 groups of five horizontal lines each, arranged vertically down the page. These lines are intended for musical notation, such as a staff for a single melodic line or a grand staff for piano. Each group of five lines is separated by a small gap from the next group below it.